Spin doctor job is a 'waste of money'

■ THE Axe Valley Pedallers found themselves in deep water last Wednesday, when heavy rain caused many rivers in the area to flood. Despite the treacherous weather, the cyclists continued on one of their weekly rides around Whitford, where water levels had left cars abandoned. However, the group was forced to take a diversion for the Stop Line Way cycle route under the Axminster bypass, where water levels were at chest height.

AN Axminster councillor has accused East Devon District Council of wasting money by the appointment of a spin doctor.

Members of Tory-run EDDC are being recommended by officers to support the recruitment of a communications and reputation manager.

But Axminster's Douglas Hull, a Liberal Democrat councillor on EDDC, has rubbished the idea.

He said: "They have dreamt up a new office position of communications and reputation manager, a spin doctor, so that you can think that everything in East Devon is wonderful."

The proposed recruitment – which is part of a project called Transforming The Council – will be discussed by EDDC's Cabinet tomorrow (Wednesday).

A council report said the successful applicant – if it is decided to go ahead and make the appointment – would receive an annual salary somewhere between £33,661 and £37,206.

The job description for the new post says the communications and reputation manager would "provide com-

Hospital Cup to be replayed?

SUNDAY'S Axminster Hospital Cup final ended in controversy with referee Brian Holmes deciding to call halt to proceedings with 10 minutes plus added on time still to be played.

Conditions underfoot at the start of the game were surprisingly good given the constant deluge that continued throughout the day. But conditions got worse as the game progressed and Holmes finally abandoned the game with Budleigh Salterton leading Seaton 2-0 but with the Greens pressing hard.

The cup committee will meet this week to decide if the final will be replayed.

AN Axminster councillor has accused East Devon District Council of wasting money by the appointment of a spin doctor.

Members of Tory-run EDDC are being recommended by officers to support the recruitment of a communications and reputation manager.

But Axminster's Douglas Hull, a Liberal Democrat councillor on EDDC, has rubbished the idea.

A council report said the successful applicant – if it is decided to go ahead and make the appointment – would receive an annual salary somewhere between £33,661 and £37,206.

The job description for the new post says the communications and reputation manager would "provide communications leadership and best practice to develop a strong and consistent reputation for the council."

"This post holder will manage and drive all aspects of the council's internal and external communications, ensuring the council's policies; actions and brand are effectively communicated to staff, councillors, residents, local and national media."

But Councillor Hull called the whole thing "a sheer waste of money".

SEATON

Beach huts wrecked

SEATON'S beach huts were wrecked by the severe storms which have hit East Devon in the last few days

Many of the huts were battered by the incoming sea waters as high winds and heavy rain hit the coast.

With many severely damaged and some even swept away taking people's possessions with them, there are now concerns about the next step, with summer on its way.

One local couple affected by the stormy weather were Aimee and Greville Guard whose beach hut was completely demolished.

From the editor's chair This sporting life...

SPORT has had a huge influence over my life. It has provided me with unforgettable memories and sustained lifelong friendships.

Although it is many years since I pulled on a pair of football boots or padded up to open the batting, bumping into former adversaries is always a pleasant experience.

And so it was on Sunday when I went along to the Axminster Hospital Cup final to help chose the man-of-the-match and join in the minute's applause for Martin Leach, one of the most talented footballers ever to wear The Tigers' amber and black.

As we report on sports pages, the final ended in a bit of controversy with the referee abandoning the match with ten minutes to go because of the waterlogged pitch.

It was a miracle it was played in the first place with Sector Lane having stood up to the deluge of rain throughout the day thanks to the hard work of Phil Garrett and his helpers.

So in the end we never had to choose a man-of-the-match and hopefully the final will be replayed.

On Friday evening I popped over to see Steve Black's one-man show at Beer (see review on page 27), a thoroughly entertaining 90 minutes before going onto the Guildhall in Axminster for the Axminster Skittles League presentation.

This was another occasion filled with familiar faces from my sporting past with much leg pulling taking place. Thank you Mr Summers!

Both secretary Les Ellis and I had hair when I went to my first skittles league presentation night in Axminster and it's amazing that Les is still presiding over this enjoyable function.

We publish a page on photos on the night in our sports section with more to come next week.

COLYTON

Crossing petition

RESIDENTS of Colyton are expected to turn out in force to a public meeting where discussions will be held on the proposed Stop Line Way cycle route and toucan crossing.

Villagers previously objected to a toucan crossing being installed across the A3052 just below Colyford Post Office as part of the Stop Line Way cycle route, which will ultimately cover 70 miles from Seaton to Weston-Super-Mare.

A total of 130 residents signed a petition, arguing that the proposed crossing was in the wrong place, as there was already an existing pedestrian refuge crossing nearby. The preferred site for the crossing was further up the A3052, near Colyford Memorial Hall and St Michael's Chapel of Ease.

After sending the petition to Devon County Council the installation of the crossing was postponed from April to June, and residents are now hoping to further air their views at a public meeting on Wednesday, May 9th, which will be attended by representatives of the county council.

Jobs under threat at local hospitals

A HEALTHCARE trust wants to "standardise" catering, portering and cleaning at NHS community hospitals in Honiton, Ottery, Axminster, Seaton and Sidmouth, with the possible loss of jobs.

The three functions are known in the trade as hotel services, and a total of about 80 staff at the hospitals mentioned are affected.

Northern Devon Healthcare NHS Trust started a 60-day staff consultation period on April 23rd and has pledged that every affected staff member will have a one-to-one meeting with managers, with the support of their union representative.

The proposal also affects the trust's hospitals at Budleigh Salterton, Exmouth, Tiverton, Crediton, and Exeter (Whipton)

Overall, 195 staff are affected and redundancies may occur.

A similar change at the trust's other hospitals in 2008 resulted in what bosses describe as "very few redundancies".

Trust chief executive Jac Kelly said: "We are confident that by engaging with staff from the beginning and listening to their career aspirations we can minimise any redundancies and offer new opportunities for staff.

"We have been filling vacancies with fixed term contracts for some months to protect the employment of those staff who have been with us for a long time."

Poor weather delays Webster's mural start

■ BOARDED UP: Webster's Garage art project co-ordinator Tim Leat pictured outside the town centre eyesore which is about to be covered in a mural depicting the history of Axminster. Inclement weather has delayed the start of the project but it is hoped that parts will be completed in time for the Queen's Diamond Jubilee

By Anders Larsson

volved in other ways with the project can contact Mr Leat on 01297 35187 or e-mail Norrlet@aol.com

The Webster's site was discussed at a recent Axminster Town Council meeting when councillors expressed the view it would be better to demolish the garage and use the land for additional car parking.

Mayor Andrew Moulding, deputy leader of East Devon District Council which runs the town's car parks, said existing parks were up to capacity some days of the week and more parking might be required after the town's planned expansion.

communications leadership and best practice to develop a strong and consistent reputation for the council.

"This post holder will manage and drive all aspects of the council's internal and external communications, ensuring the council's policies, actions and brand are effectively communicated to staff, councillors, residents, local and national media."

But Councillor Hull called the whole thing "a sheer waste of money", which, in his opinion, could be better spent on housing and recreational facilities.

He concluded: "I'm not the only one. I think you'll find quite a few other councillors of different political persuasions thinking the same."

The report, however, claims there are risks in not appointing someone. The report says: "The risks in not moving forward are that we will be out of touch with our residents at a time when we most need to work with them to agree acceptable public services at the lowest cost."

"We have very little capacity to manage communications or profile data currently and are running the risk of making decisions without good intelligence to support them."

When asked for comment, Axminster councillor and deputy EDDC leader Andrew Moulding (Conservative) said that with big projects like Cranbrook and the proposed relocation of council headquarters to Honiton, the authority has many things it needs to communicate.

He did, however, reserve judgment until fully familiar with all the details.

'Possible job losses' as NHS trust plans service changes

A HEALTHCARE trust wants to 'standardise' catering, portering and cleaning at NHS community hospitals in Axminster, Seaton, Sidmouth, Ottery and Honiton with the possible loss of jobs.

The three functions are known in the trade as hotel services, and a total of about 80 staff at the hospitals mentioned are affected. Northern Devon Healthcare NHS Trust started a 60-day staff consultation period on April 23rd and has pledged that every affected staff member will have a one-to-one meeting with managers, with the support of their union representative.

The proposal also affects the trust's hospitals Budleigh Salterton, Exmouth, Tiverton, Crediton, Exeter (Whipton), Moretonhampstead and Okehampton. Overall, 195 staff are affected and redundancies may occur.

A similar change at the trust's other hospital in 2008 resulted in what bosses describe as "very few redundancies". Trust chief executive Jac Kelly said: "We are confident that by engaging with staff from the beginning and listening to their career aspirations we can minimise any redundancies and offer new opportunities for staff."

"We have been filling vacancies with fixed term contracts for some months to protect the employment of those staff who have been with us for a long time."

A trust spokesperson added: "The trust conducted the same consultation with staff in the northern Devon community hospitals in 2008 and they now work to common policies and procedures."

"The outcome in northern Devon was that the community hospitals retained their excellent or good rating for both cleanliness and food in the annual PEAT inspections, which form a major part of assessment by the Care Quality Commission."

"The consultation runs for 60 days. This will allow each member of staff to understand how they might be affected and to put forward their own ideas before plans are finalised."

The consultation contains two main proposals:

● Multi-skilling of staff: The proposed changes would mean staff are trained to be multi-skilled in all the hotel service functions, i.e. cleaning and infection control as well as portering and catering.

● Catering: It is also proposed that all sites would move towards a system where meals were delivered using locally-produced food, ready for final preparation as and when needed.

CORONATION

Special diet for marathon
march on the big day

In 1953 I was 21 and serving with the Royal Navy at the RN Air Station Ford (now an open prison), in West Sussex, when I was selected to be part of the Royal Navy guard of honour for the coronation.

Those selected gathered together at HMS Gamecock (a Naval Air Station near Nuneaton in Warwickshire) where we started training. For six weeks we were given special diets, physical training and long marches every day – starting at 10 miles and ended at 20-25 miles (all with Lee Enfield rifles in the slope arms position – they got heavier with every mile).

On the day prior to the coronation, we travelled to London where we were billeted in Earls Court. We slept on straw mattresses and rose early to dress in our best uniforms to march to our assembly point in Hyde Park, where we were promptly drenched in pouring rain.

We marched off to military bands behind the royal coach all day. We must have covered about 30 miles by the end of the day. Marching became difficult due to the number of military bands playing at different paces and echoing among the tall buildings. We paused now and then and crowds were throwing sweets at us to keep our energy up!

It was a special day which I will always remember. Interestingly, I finished my naval career as a lecturer at the Royal Navy College Dartmoor when Prince Charles became a student.

Sam is new chef at the canteen

THERE is a new head chef calling the shots at River Cottage Canteen in Axminster.

Tim Maddams has stepped out of the kitchen and handed over his apron to Sam Rom.

The former chef decided to change direction after four and a half years because he wants to spend more time with his expanding family — with a baby due any day, when he introduced Sam to media on Wednesday, April 25th.

But it won't be a clean break, far from it.

River Cottage's Lucy Brazier said: "Tim will still be part of the River Cottage family and is writing a forthcoming handbook for us as well as continuing his role in future Fish Fight TV updates."

He decided to step down about five months ago but waited for the right moment.

He explained: "I'm personally attached to the place and wanted to make sure the right guy came in — and I'm very confident Sam is."

Sam comes from a job as executive chef in south Devon, and relishes the new challenge.

He hopes to learn even more and find different ways to use ingredients.

When asked if he was hoping to get his face on TV as well, he said: "That is not really a big aim to be honest."

He currently commutes from south Devon but is hoping to move to the area in the not so distant future.

Campus revamp!

A TRANSFORMATION of the Axe Valley Community College campus has started in earnest.

Local carpenter Matt Austin has created what is known as the art quad at the Axminster college.

The structure is made from giant slabs of green oak and provides several seats.

The art quad playground will also be equipped with a mural and a large relief sculpture on the old brick walls.

A new, covered seating area for Year 9 students has been constructed by local landscape gardener Steve Allen.

Apart from being a useful facility during breaks, the area can also serve as an outdoor classroom in good weather.

The college praised K J Thulborn, who donated the wood chippings for this project.

Headteacher Martin Smith said: "When we asked students last year to tell us how we could improve the college for them they identified having good recreational areas for break and lunchtime."

"It is important to listen and respond to student feedback in this way and hopefully students feel they are having a real impact."

"These improvements are part of an ambitious plan over the next three years to transform the campus into an inspiring and inviting environment."

"We have set ourselves the target of creating at least three new areas each year."

'Impressive' examination results

ALL Year 11 students at Axe Valley Community College were entered early for their GCSE Maths exams this year, with impressive results.

Instead of the traditional May or June exam, students were entered in March.

The results were announced on Thursday, April 19th with 76 per cent of students achieving A*-C and 20 per cent achieving A*-A, including eight A* grades.

The results were well above targets set by the Axminster college itself.

The college reports that the vast majority of students met or exceeded their targets and will now on revision of other exam subjects.

Extremely proud

A small number of students who are keen to improve will have the opportunity to resit in June, so the overall grades in August could rise even further.

Headteacher Martin Smith was very pleased and said: "Students in Year 11 have achieved stunning GCSE Maths results once again.

"This is particularly impressive considering they sat the exams three months early. I would like to congratulate all the students and the maths department who work tirelessly to challenge and support every student."

"We are all extremely proud of this achievement." These results underline our commitment to achieving academic excellence. We have invested significantly in supporting academic progress in all subjects by lowering class sizes to an average of 20 in Years 10 and 11 which enables us to provide a higher level of support for individuals.

"In addition we run holiday and weekend intensive revision days in the run-up to exams."

The results also confirm the maths department as high-performing subject compared to national averages.

Club members Mark Herrod and Nicola Bowditch said: "The event was held by kind permission of Edward Eames and saw 20 members plough between one and two hours each."

"The club would like to say a big thank you to Hamblys who very kindly sponsored a Claas tractor and a Lemken plough."

"We would also like to say a big thank you to MP Hoare Agricultural Contractor for teaching us to plough and also to everyone who helped sponsor, or support the event."

OAP calls for low bus floors

AN Axminster resident wants an immediate introduction of low-floor buses on all services after she had a fall when trying to board.

The bus company involved sympathises with her, but works to a different timetable.

Frances Crawley, 82, who lives in Millwey Rise, walks with a zimmer frame and had a mishap when returning from a trip to Chard on Friday, April 13th.

She had travelled there on First's number 30 Axminster-Taunton route earlier that day. She caught the 2.26pm service back from Chard but had a problem getting on the bus, which says had a high-floor.

By Anders Larsson
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

She said: "I fell between the curb and the bus."

Frances suffered a bruised hip but was assisted by others to board the bus.

She is alright, though, and emphasises that she is not after compensation, saying: "All I want is low-floor buses."

Her wish will be granted, but not yet.

A First spokesperson said: "We operate a number of vehicles on Service 30, some, but not all, of which are low floor.

"We are actively working towards the 2015 /2017 deadlines set by the Disability Discrimination Act to ensure that all buses within our fleet are low floor and easily accessible by then."

The spokesperson added: "We are concerned to hear about the fall Mrs Crawley sustained in Chard."

"Our records show that she has not logged a complaint or registered her involvement in an incident with us directly though."

This was confirmed by Frances.

The spokesperson added: "We have previously worked very closely with organisations such as Age UK to highlight the things that older people can do to stay safe while travelling on buses, recognising that older people can be more susceptible to falls.

"Specifically we worked with Age UK around National Falls Awareness Day in 2009, an activity which subsequently gave rise to First developing its own Passenger Safety Card, which is a mechanism by which older people can alert the drivers to any special requirements they may have, for instance needing more time to find a seat."

■ BOOKSTART BEAR: Penny Davis and Willow

Bear award

THE month of April means double celebrations for Axminster resident Willow Voysey.

She is the first person to complete the Bookstart Bear Club scheme at Axminster Library and her achievement was formally recognised when she received a certificate.

This was the first of two celebrations as the young book worm turns three-years-old on Wednesday of last week.

Penny Davis, of Axminster Library, said: "She is the first child to complete the scheme at Axminster Library and one of the first in the county.

"The scheme is for babies, toddlers and pre-schoolers and encourages them to visit the library by rewarding them with a stamp every time they visit.

"For every six stamps collected, the child receives a reward certificate and there are ten different certificates to collect."

"So Willow has visited the library 60 times since she started the scheme in October last year."

When asked if she will keep visiting the library, Willow nodded and said: "Yes."

■ STAFF at an Axminster shop have praised customers for helping to raise almost £300 for a worthy cause.

During Parkinson's Awareness Week, April 16th-22nd, Ganesh Wholefoods raised money for Parkinson's UK. Ganesh staff member Nicola Beviss, whose mother was diagnosed 10 years ago at the age of 45, wanted to help raise awareness of the disease.

Her colleague Richard Easton said: "Staff collected donations and ran a free prize draw for customers. We managed to raise £289.87, and would like to thank all customers who donated."

New era for Robert

By Laura Goldsbury Noy
laura@pemedia.co.uk

THE pastor of Crossroad's Christian Fellowship in Seaton has retired from his post after 28 years of working within the church.

Robert Spiller began his work in 1984 after playing a major role at Crossroads for many years, and is a much-loved and well-respected member of the church and the local community.

After a lengthy time as pastor, the decision was made to pass on the role to Robert's son-in-law Jon Sibley, who has attended the church for the duration of Robert's leadership.

Born in Axmouth Parish, Robert is a local man and after marrying his wife Pam in 1968, set up home in Seaton. After having two daughters, Louise and Emma, the family then moved to Rousdon at New Haye Farm where Robert and Pam ran a mixed dairy farm.

Robert was asked by the then-leaders of Crossroad's Christian Fellowship to take the role in 1984 and a year after, sold the majority of his farmland to concentrate on his involvement with the church.

Robert and his wife Pam have been deeply involved in many issues surrounding the church and despite ups and downs, they say that the highlight has been seeing lives changed by the gospel, and working with the people of the community.

As one of the founding members of Christians Together in Seaton, Robert is pleased with the way that Seaton churches continue to work together.

He said: "Church is about the people, not the building or the formality and religious ordinances. We are a family and seeing people changed by the word of the gospel has been the most rewarding thing about being pastor.

"I am thrilled that our son-in-law Jon and our daughter Louise can step into our role and the fellowship of Crossroads is behind them, wishing them the best in their new roles.

"Thank you to everyone who has supported me over the years with special thanks going to my wife Pam, who has been rock and support over the years, as well as a key member of the church."

Robert and Pam are looking forward to the future and will continue to serve the church as part of the leadership team.

Pam added: "It has been a rewarding responsibility and over the years we have been involved with a lot of interesting and lovely people. We are looking forward to seeing our daughter and son-in-law take on the role and know they will do a good job."

Jon and his wife Louise are looking forward to the future.

The couple have four children, Harry, Lily, Jesse and Tom, who also attend the church and their ethos now is to try and incorporate local families and bring in the youth of Seaton.

Jon said: "We are very excited about the future and it is going to be a great challenge ahead."

"On behalf of all of Crossroads, we would like to thank Robert and Pam for their great work and hope we can make them proud."

■ VOLUNTEERS from the League of Friends of Seaton Hospital at their Colyton coffee morning and table-top sale. Below, members sell toys and books

THE League of Friends of Seaton Hospital held a coffee morning and table-top sale in Colyton on Saturday.

The event was held in Colyton Town Hall and included stalls ranging from bric-a-brac, toys, books, clothes, plants, homemade cakes, jewellery, greeting cards and handmade knitted goods.

There was also a raffle, tombola and the usual refreshments of coffee, tea and biscuits.

The coffee morning raised about £350 for the hospital.

Coffee at Harepath Farm

■ A COFFEE morning at Harepath Farm bed and breakfast in Colyford raised about £200 for the Friends of St Michael's Church. Proprietors Simon and Mary Card, pictured above with members of the Friends, opened their home on Friday, offering hot drinks, homemade cakes, a bring and buy sale and raffle. Mr Card said it was a "great community affair" and had been very successful.

School emulates 'Just a Minute'

STAFF and students at Colyton Grammar School have emulated the BBC2 and Radio 4 panel show "Just a Minute" in aid of charity.

The event was complete with astute panellists and a set of buzzers.

Raising money for East Devon Cystic Fibrosis's Quality of Life Fund, sixth form student Phillip Stoneman organised the event with friends.

The initiative raised just over £75 and Philip said: "It was great to run 'Just a Minute', not only for the challenge and thrill but also to raise money for a charity that has helped my brother, who suffers from cystic fibrosis.

"What really encouraged us on the day was the wonderful audience that responded really well to the efforts of the teachers to try to speak for sixty seconds without hesitation, deviation or repetition."

Biology teacher, Miles Smith, chemistry teacher Dr Ian Stanbridge, and English teachers Anna Love and Richard Bush all took part and the honours ended up shared between Mr Bush and Mr Smith after a hard-fought but entertaining lunchtime battle of wits and words.

Keeping score and control of proceedings were Phillip and fellow Year 13 student Louis Biggs.

BuzzGold, a Northleigh-based business, kindly loaned their scoring software and wireless slammers that allowed the panellists to challenge each other during the game.

Grammar school choirs visits Exeter Cathedral

■ IN TUNE: Colyton Grammar School Senior Choir at Exeter Cathedral

By student reporter
Hannah Brown

COLYTON Grammar School's senior students made a visit to Exeter Cathedral to sing the choral service of Evensong.

The Senior Choir, which is over 100 strong, filled the choir stalls and was well supported by a large number of friends and family.

Evensong, also known as Evening Prayers, consists of prayers and choral pieces.

The students sang various pieces ranging from Thomas Noble's 19th century "Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis", to an anthem by Will Todd first performed in 1997.

THE Young Enterprise group at Colyton Grammar School are looking for help with their new innovative website.

The new website www.ease-jobs.co.uk has been set up to advertise jobs in the local area, specifically for youngsters aged between 16 and 24.

With youth unemployment a big problem on a local and national scale at the moment, the team thought it was a relevant and prominent issue to tackle.

The website is not currently live as more jobs are needed to advertise on it. If you are part of a business, however big or small, that currently has employment opportunities for youngsters, contact Charlie Davies on charlie.davies193@hotmail.co.uk

Theatre group nominated at drama festival

COLYTON Theatre Group's entry to the 33rd Exmouth Drama Festival of one-act plays was a great success.

The play "In By The Half" by Jimmy Chin, successfully directed by Drewe Henley, was well received and nominated for three awards at the festival.

The main character, Madam, is an elderly actress who lives in her own world of the theatre. She was skilfully portrayed by Lyn Henley, who was awarded the Rose Cumming Memorial Trophy for diction and expression.

Cynthia Bell, who played her one-time dresser and now housekeeper, was nominated for her characterisation of the part, and Madam's estranged daughter, sympathetically played by Tish Wells, was nominated for excellence in a supporting role.

Other visitors to Madam's house included her young pupil, played by a "young talent to watch" Jade Bridge; and Madam's doctor, played with a good bedside manner by a stalwart of Colyton Theatre Group and town crier Derek Wenn.

Assistant director was Theresa Cordwell and stage manager was Roger Bagg, assisted by Karen Pledger and Susan Fouracre.

The group said it was "an all round successful team and worthwhile entry to this year's Exmouth Drama Festival".

Seasonal beach ban on dogs starts on May 1

DOG OWNERS are reminded that East Devon District Council's byelaws prohibiting dogs from certain parts of the beaches in the district are about to come into force again after the winter break.

The dog ban runs from May 1st to September 30th each year.

Beaches still have many areas where dogs are welcome and visitors who are unsure about where they may take their dogs onto the beach are strongly advised to check the signs or EDDC's website link - www.eastdevon.gov.uk/dog\_ban\_area - before taking their dogs onto the beaches.

A spokesman said: "We are always happy to give advice to holiday makers with dogs."

"Uniformed and plain clothes enforcement officers will be patrolling all areas throughout the summer and people found walking their dogs in these banned areas may be served with a fixed penalty notice, which carries a fine of £80; should any cases be taken to court, then fines may be incurred of up to £1,000."

"Please remember that in any public open space dog owners must pick up after their dogs and dispose of the faeces correctly."

Now the council are 'going for gold'

EDDC has won Investors in People's Silver Award following a recent review, one of only two district councils in Devon to achieve this standard.

The council now plans to 'go for gold' within the next year to ensure it's recognised as one of the best employers in Devon.

Assessor Julie Luscombe summed up her report on the latest assessment saying: "Having carried out the review process in accordance with the guidelines provided by Investors in People – UK Commission for Employment and Skills, I am totally satisfied that East Devon District Council meets the requirements of the Investors in People National Standard. I am pleased also to state that you meet a total of 115 evidence requirements, which means that you have achieved Silver level."

The assessor added: "There were many areas of excellence that were apparent at the review... Whenever I visit ... I am always struck by the professionalism and dedication of everyone in the organisation, no matter what their role or responsibilities."

Strong sense of pride

"There is clearly a very strong sense of pride in working for the Council, in striving to provide service excellence and open minds to try new methods and suggest ideas for improvement."

"Despite the many changes and sometimes uncertain environment, it is very evident that as a management team and as service areas you most definitely get it right! Your ethos of inclusivity and Senior Leadership Team structure is working very well and there is a great deal of respect and trust for the future. The new Council Plan which is nearing completion sets out your ambition for the future clearly. There is good consideration of areas where it is harder to get thanks e.g. council tax collection. You have considered how the team could help people with debt prevention."

"People are fully involved in considering strategy for their department and there has been good work with members. Consultation with staff has also been strong".

Commenting on the award, EDDC leader Paul Diviani said: "My heartiest congratulations go to the HR team for their hard work in setting out the framework for compliance with this exacting assessment and to all the unsung heroes among our employees who all play a part in helping us to run the council efficiently and to face the many challenges we meet."

All your wedding stationery for your big day

STEVE AND CHRIS, always up for a challenge, have decided after five years that the print and stationery will once again stand alone. Steve managing the print and stationery, Chris managing the newspapers/convenience business.

Print and stationery will be located at 23 Fore Street, across the road in what was the hobby shop with a Golden Lion looking over them. The move will mean a dedicated team running the print and stationery side. Whether you are running a business, big or small, or a private individual, they are there to help and advise.

Steve is hoping to offer a wider range of stationery. The print department will be headed by Steve with Julie working alongside him, and Mitchell will also be joining the team at front of house and will only be pleased to assist in giving their full attention to your printing needs. Photocopying will still be available along with plan copying for your larger prints. We will be open Monday to Friday 9am to 5pm and Saturday mornings, 9.30am to 12.30pm just for front of house and stationery requirements.

Any printing requirements will be by prior arrangements.

'A Big Move, A Brave Move', but a move that Steve and Chris believe will make for a better service for their customers, giving Steve his identity in the print and leaving Chris to run the newspapers/convenience side of the business, which will now be under the Londis banner.

Steve and Chris will still be actively involved in both businesses, with Steve still doing his early morning keep fit newspaper deliveries. As Chris says: "He needs the exercise!".

Prima Moda Brides picks up award

PRIMA Moda Brides of Ilminster have been recognised with a national award for their proven ability to go the extra mile in not only meeting, but exceeding the needs of their clients.

The company has been selected by Weddings & Occasions E-Mag as their online Bridalwear Stockist of the Year, in an independent award programme recognised both locally and nationally.

Outlining the philosophy behind the award scheme, director of the publication Andrew Simpson said: "The award scheme was created in order to recognise those businesses and individuals who have made an outstanding contribution to their particular field. We are always keen to bring attention to those who are providing a product or service that stands out from the crowd and deserves to be appreciated not only by our readers, but also by a wider audience."

Based in Ilminster, award-winning Prima Moda Brides is owned and run by Jean Pas, who has built up a reputation for providing unique wedding gowns, including the latest designs, which come in on a regular basis.

Jean has built up the company's success year on year and said: "We aim to provide every client with a truly customer-focused service. We understand that every bride wants to look radiant on her big day and strive to offer her unique advice, as well as listening to what type of wedding dress she is looking for, thereby ensuring she chooses the perfect dress to reflect her personality and enhance her natural attributes."

Jean continued: "We encourage brides and other members of the bridal party to try different styles with their venue in mind, for example a beach wedding may require a different style and fabric from a traditional ceremony."

"We strive to make our clients feel at ease when looking for their bridal wear, having made sure there is plenty of natural light which is important when choosing fabrics and colours; with large mirrored changing rooms enabling you to view the gown from all angles."

The testimonial below is typical of the many commendations regularly received from satisfied clients; view other testimonials at www.primamodabrides.com:

"A amazing service - everybody is so friendly and helpful and a dream and pleasure to buy from - many, many thanks!"

Kilmington farm venue applies for amplified music approval

By Anders Larsson

anders@tindlenews.co.uk

A HOLIDAY complex in Kilmington wants to lift a ban on amplified music and be able to cater for people not staying at the venue.

The complex made the headlines earlier this year when its electricity supply was cut off by saboteurs.

Based at Hills Farm, Cranberries Holiday Hideaway provides accommodation for up to 32 people at a time.

The complex has been developed gradually by farm owner Steven Littley over the past five years or so, and also features a games and recreation room.

At the moment, a planning condition dictates that the games and recreation room can only be used by people staying at the farm, and amplified music is not allowed.

A planning application has been submitted to East Devon District Council (EDDC), seeking to remove the bans on people not staying at the complex and amplified music.

In a letter to EDDC, Mr Littley's agent - Taylor-Wilkinson Ltd - wrote that the venue seeks to stage civil weddings.

The agent also wrote: "The applicant also wishes to use the facility as a centre for organised theme events including bird watching on the Axe estuary, fly fishing demonstrations and similar countryside pursuits that have a local connection."

"The current wording of the condition specifically precludes guests of people staying at the centre and would prevent, for example, a guest speaker, visiting instructor or an entertainer from participating."

With regards to amplified music, the letter claims that the current ban fails to acknowledge measures taken by the applicant to contain noise - which include insulation of the building's walls, roof and windows.

Summing up, the agent wrote: "In our view, the benefits to the local economy in permitting some relaxation of the two conditions significantly and demonstrably outweigh any perceived adverse impacts which, in any event, we believe could reasonably be controlled by other conditions."

Police were called to Hills Farm in March when Western Power Distribution investigated power cuts at Hills Farm.

A Western Power Distribution spokesperson said at the time: "We believe there has been third party interference with our equipment on a number of occasions."

There had been no arrests at the time of writing.

Novice computer lessons at Musbury

COMPUTER novices took part in a basic IT class in Musbury Village Hall.

The class was held on Wednesday of last week as part of the Connecting Devon and Somerset Project, which sees local authorities in the two counties aiming to bring faster broadband.

Devon County Council is one of the local authorities involved, and a spokesperson said: "We are working with parishes and local communities to increase and improve people's IT skills and this session is being run at Musbury Village Hall."

Honiton-based social enterprise Cosmic specialises in IT and is involved with the faster broadband project.

Cosmic's Fiona Glasspool was one of the tutors in Musbury and said one of the reasons for holding the class there was the interest shown in the project by the parish council and villagers.

Barbara and David Curtis were among those in the class and were complete beginners having just bought a computer.

Barbara said that pressure was put on them to start using a computer and email as family members lived in other parts of the country.

■ HALL STALWARTS Tony Lear, John Platt and Maureen Pendrick moving tables for a last time

■ VILLAGE hall stalwarts in Northleigh no longer have to carry tables up and down the steps.

The hall boasts several improvements and committee members are happy to report that the first big event post-improvement ran smoothly.

With a busy Queen's Diamond Jubilee weekend on the horizon, it was important to make sure that the new arrangements have bedded in.

Village hall committee member John Platt explained: "A new store for chair and tables has been built at the side, with easy access to the main hall.

"Chairs had been taking up a larger part of the entrance foyer and tables had to be carried up steps from the original store, a far from ideal arrangement.

"The new facilities were well tested with the annual production of the local drama group when some 250 people attended the hall over three days of performances.

"Organisers of activities in the hall are pleased with the improved use of the hall and are busy making plans to use the additional storage space."

The improvement project has been funded by Making it Local, a grant scheme managed through the offices of the Blackdown Hills and East Devon AONB.

Help was also received from the Sustainable Development Fund of the East Devon AONB.

Pulman's View from the churches

With NIGEL SPELLER

SOME would say the church is irrelevant, but all of the local ministers agree that their telephones show no sign of going silent, disproving that theory.

When someone is sick, or a baby is born, or a relative dies, or there has been an offer of marriage, there is always someone who will be ringing and wanting a service, advice, comfort or someone just to be there with them. That is when the church continues to be indispensable, and on call 24/7.

So next time you have something to celebrate or a cause for concern, why not ring your local minister or church? You will certainly have a listening ear and someone ready to offer comfort.

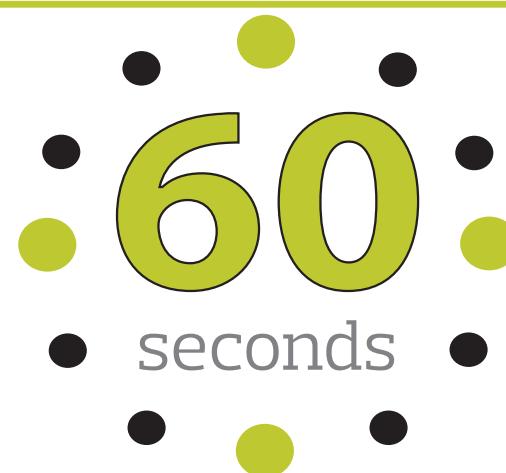

And there is a need now for action about church costs: the Church of England has created an e-petition calling on the Chancellor to bring back zero rate VAT to alterations to its 12,500 listed churches.

It follows the recent launch of a consultation by HM Revenue & Customs on VAT charging to approved alterations to listed buildings, which closes on May 4th 2012. The e-petition can still be signed online now at: <http://epetitions.direct.gov.uk/petitions/32229>.

The hope is for church buildings to be freed 100 per cent for work on listed alterations and that there will be recognition that such buildings are for community use.

The Colyton Mission Community covering five churches in East Devon has just welcomed a new Youth Worker who has been appointed to assist with work among young people. Other local churches in East Devon have also received assistance for similar work in varying amounts made available by the Diocese of Exeter from the Million for Mission Fund which has now completed its awards.

The bell ringers of our churches play a vital part in all parishes in Devon. St Andrew's Colyton has just reported the retirement of Dennis Moss as Captain of the Tower, after many years, and welcomed as his successor Keith Smith, already well known locally.

COLYTON Scout leader, Kevin Taylor, first moved to the town when he was 23, having grown up in Axminster. He joined Colyton-based ceramic supplier CeramTec as an apprentice engineer after finishing school in 1974, when it was then Rosenthal, and is now logistics manager.

Kevin first became involved with the local Scouts group when his son Lee joined and has since gone on to be Group Scout Leader. He lives with wife Rose and their labradors and has three grown-up sons.

● HOW did you become involved in the 1st Colyton Scouts?

My son Lee was a keen Scout and I joined to help the troop. From there I went on to become an Assistant Leader. My wife Rose followed me to become Beaver Scout Leader. I'm now Group Scout Leader where I oversee the running of the group and the Scout section.

As well as leading the Scouts I'm amazed at what I've done since joining our Scout group. Would I be cycling were it not for Scouting? I certainly wouldn't be kayaking. And would I really be hurtling down a ski slope in a rubber ring at what appeared to be the speed of light!

Rewards are the close friends that I've made. Also the look on the face of the Scout who has just abseiled down a sheer rock face or kayaked over a weir – these are the memories that make the 'job' worthwhile and stay with you forever.

● WERE you a Scout as a child?
Yes, I joined Axminster Scout Group as an eight-year-old

Cub. I absolutely loved it and Scouting became an integral part of my life until my early twenties.

I enjoyed all the activities, from navigation to pioneering, from tracking to cooking over an open fire. Summer camp was the highlight of the year but was somewhat different in those days, having to light the altar fire and collect firewood in order to cook your breakfast – no gas in those days but I do remember a temperamental old Primus!

More freedom in those days of course when we packed our kit in our rucksack and were sent out from camp for an overnight hike with £5 to buy food and with no leader in tow.

● WHAT type of activities do the Scouts take part in?

As an example, this term started with the Scouts shooting at a club near Charmouth. They will be sleeping in Ashclyst Forest in shelters they have built themselves. They will be gliding at Broadhembury with Scouts from Axminster, and walking on Dartmoor with Scouts from Seaton. They will be camping near Taunton and cooking outdoors with just a knife and tin foil. The term will finish with raft building at Lyme Regis.

Scouts learn teamwork and life skills. Our aim is to 'promote the development of young people in achieving their full physical, intellectual, social and spiritual potential, as individuals, as responsible citizens and as members of their local, national and international communities'. Scouting is open to both boys and girls.

● HAS the 1st Colyton Scouts got any upcoming events or fundraisers?

We are planning a tabletop sale in June. We will be running a Pinewood Derby again this year after the carnival crowning ceremony (special race category this year for dads!)

● WHEN do the 1st Colyton Scouts meet and how can children join?

Our Scout group comprises three sections: Beavers for 6-8 year olds, Cubs for 8-10 and a half year olds and Scouts for 10 and a half to 14 year olds. We are all based at the new youth centre although this term we are often outdoors. Cubs meet on Tuesday evening, Beavers and Scouts on Thursdays.

Enquiries to join can be made to gsl@colyton-scouts.org.uk or telephone 01297 553208.

● WHAT are your personal interests?

Photography, cycling, target shooting and walking our dogs.

● WHAT do you like about living in Colyton?

I like the peace and tranquillity, and the way the whole community integrates for the well-being of the town.

● WHAT would you change about or add to the area?

The Scouts love climbing so I would welcome some form of local provision, perhaps a bouldering wall or climbing tower at the new youth centre. Other than that I can't think of anything I would want to change..

● WHERE is your ideal holiday destination and why?

Scouting wise it would have to be the Scout boating centre at Marlow. From a personal perspective both Rose and I are very fond of Switzerland. I've always said that my last Scout camp will be at the international camping site there, so when the Scouts hear me announce that our next camp will be at Kandersteg they will know the time has finally come for 'Skip' to hang up the old woggle.

● WHAT would you do if you won the Lottery?

James Herriot wrote that after the birth of his second child he was becoming rich. So with three healthy sons and our beloved labradors I guess Rose and I consider ourselves already rich. But a significant amount of money would ensure my family lived in reasonable comfort and the dogs never wanted for bones!

Our youth is our future so I would further enhance the new youth centre and definitely buy a minibus for the Scout group and support children's charities. I don't think we would want to leave the area but a new house and a BMW would of course be nice.

Birds arrive!

WELL, they've arrived at last! Two pairs of swallows flew in last week, just before the onset of the rain.

A quick survey of the barn and then they vanished and haven't been seen since! Will they, I wonder, return or are we to be swallow-less this summer for the first time in 20 odd years?

Meanwhile, there is plenty of nesting activity in and around the garden, with a hen blackbird sitting in a yew bush by the kitchen window, sparrows nesting in thick ivy on one wall and a pair of jackdaws raising young in a blocked-off chimney pot, while a nesting box which usually holds blue-tits appears to be occupied by, possibly, a dormouse. A pair of woodpigeon have assembled their trade-mark untidy nest of a handful of twigs in the apple tree, while two collared doves appear to be inspecting the barn in lieu of the swallows.

Unsurprisingly, I have seen no butterflies, other than a common blue, since the onset of the rains. There was a good showing of orange-tips during the earlier, sunny days, and I even saw a few speckled woods and a tortoiseshell, but I am not sanguine for the future.

However, despite unpromising weather forecasts Richard and Alison Whiteside, who run an operation called Wildside Experience in the Blackdown Hills, tell me that they are organising a pre-dawn walk into woodland on Saturday, May 5th between 5am and 8am to listen to the dawn chorus, followed by a walk through the bluebells and culminating in a full English breakfast and the chance to discuss what has been seen and heard and to watch birds coming in to feeders. The cost is £12 for adults and £8 for children between seven and 16. The location is Seville's Croft, Hemyock, and for more information call 01823 680931, email info@wildsideexperience.co.uk or visit www.wildsideexperience.co.uk for details.

From the dawn chorus to flying mice. Very, very occasionally I see a pipistrelle or long-eared bat hunting for summer insects, but even these sightings, once so common, are becoming increasingly rare. However, both species and also the serotine can be found in reasonable numbers on Brownsea Island so, if you'd like to send a weekend bat-watching, Nick Tomlinson, manager of the Dorset Wildlife Trust's Kingcombe Centre, is leading a special event on the Island from Friday, May 25th at 4.30pm until Sunday, May 27th at 4pm.

The tranquil island, with its red squirrels and extensive range of wild life, is home to numerous bats and enthusiasts will have the chance to use bat detectors to hear the different species feeding and to experience a dawn swarm of bats flying round them. There will also be the opportunity to inspect bat boxes and to enjoy some free time exploring the island when it is closed to the public. Having spent a day on Brownsea Island last year I can thoroughly recommend a visit.

The weekend bat course costs £220, including food and accommodation, to call 01300 320684 or visit www.kingcombe.org/courses.

Meanwhile, in Devon a new initiative is under way to help improve the health of the county's river catchments. The project is being embarked on by the Devon Wildlife Trust in partnership with the Environment Agency and the first work will centre on East Devon, focussing on the River Otter. Over the next 12 months the overall health of the river system will be assessed, and existing and new conservation projects and activities will be assisted. One of the key projects will be to examine barriers to fish passage throughout the river as well as excessive nutrient input.

Scott West from DWT is keen to hear from other organisations, local people or interested parties who may have something to offer in support.

If you feel you would like to get involved in this project, particularly as it affects the River Otter call Scott on 01392 279244.

Christian Aid Week

CHRISTIAN Aid Week will soon be here! It's from May 13th-19th this year.

In Axminster we are experimenting with several different ways of enabling people to contribute to this respected charity.

In some parts of the area we are making our traditional door to door envelope collection, while in other parts of the town we will be delivering envelopes with a slip inside, explaining where donations can be left.

The novelty here is that all the post offices we've contacted, Millwey, Raymonds Hill, Chardstock, Kilminster and the main Axminster Town Post Office have all readily agreed to receive our red envelopes for us. This is so helpful.

Having said all this, we are sorry that there will still be homes where no envelopes can be delivered this year, and so we are really grateful to the Co-op in West Street, who have given us permission to have a table on Saturday, May 19th where we can collect donations in the daytime.

Thank you,

A house called Wellens

WHILST researching on Genes Reunited the other day, I came across the name Wellens, which is/was the name of a house.

It was a cutting from The Western Times, October 9th 1931, and I quote: 'Property Auction at Honiton Mr G A Bartlett offered for sale at the Dolphin Hotel, Honiton, on Saturday, a small country residence Wellens, Stockland, together with two modern cottages at Ford Cross, and a plot of garden ground . . . Wellens and the modern cottages all with automatic water supply, and vacant possession, may be bought privately'.

The article did say the original sale failed to meet the reserved price.

Does anyone know if this house still exists and how it got its name?

I think it may be to do with Wells Cathedral where the bishops' memorials have the words

'Bathoniensi et Wellensi'.

Another newspaper article (Exeter Gazette, August 24th 1916) said, 'Adrian Wellens won a prize at the Home Mission Sale of Work at Alphington'.

In the Western Daily Press 1915: '...the Wiltshire Arts and Crafts at Neald Hall, the Belgian refugees' stall had a collection of useful articles . . . and M(onsieur) Wellens, an artist exhibited'.

The name is common in the Low Countries. As far as I can ascertain, the English Wellens is from the Shropshire/Hereford counties.

I would love to know why the house at Stockland had the same name. If any reader can help, please email me at geoffwellens@aol.com or phone me on 07808 162258.

Thank you,

Geoff Wellens

STAR LETTER

A sensible approach to gulls problem

Re: Letter, K. Hackman; Tuesday, April 17th - Gull photo reminds us that they're creatures

Yes, they are, of course. Like all living creatures on this earth they have a right and, yes, it is not their fault that they are coming into the towns for food.

We also know it is human activity that is causing the problem.

In our civilised society we cannot cull the small element of ignorant people who couldn't care less where they throw their waste.

So eventually it will come to a sensible cull by the right authorities to keep the numbers of these aggressive birds limited in the towns — heaven knows when that will be!

Blagovest return to Colyton

RUSSIAN choral group Blagovest is making a welcome return to Colyton for a concert on Saturday, May 26th at 7.30pm.

The group of five singers, all of whom trained at The St Petersburg Conservatoire, perform a repertoire that contrasts the sublime and intensely spiritual music of the Russian Orthodox Church, with the humour and high spirits of traditional Russian folk tunes.

Blagovest, which translates as 'good news', is the name given to the ringing of a single bell that is the call to prayer before a service in the Russian Orthodox Church.

It is appropriate that this talented and unusual unaccompanied ensemble are singing in St. Andrew's Church in Colyton and that proceeds will go to The Friends of St Andrew's, a charity dedicated to the preservation and maintenance of the fabric of this beautiful building. Tickets, which include interval refreshments, are £9 (£4.50 for under-eighteens) and are available from Haynes, Market Square, Colyton, or can be reserved by telephoning 01297 553163.

There is a discount of £1 per ticket for members of The Friends.

GOOD NEWS | Blagovest will return to Colyton for a concert at the end of May

Local business sponsors new film production company

A TRIO of local lads have formed a film production company, 'Primley Road Productions', after much acclaim for their pilot episode of Clive last year. Their first feature film, - The Catch – starts shooting in East Devon and other locations in July this year, and whilst they have been supported with location and studio equipment by MWS Media, a film production company in the Thames Valley, much needed funding is required for hiring locations and more. Rudge Renewables have helped with some sponsorship, but more is needed to bring this home grown comedy to the UK's film screens.

The Catch is a character driven, coming-of-age comedy, with a truly original story. Supported by the acclaimed production company, MWS, who are eager to nurture Britain's next generation of film makers, Rudge Renewables have also been keen to invest in the future of these local talented youngsters who obviously have a planned future in British film writing and production.

Based in Seaton, Oliver Dowling has gone on to graduate with honours from Kingston University in film and creative writing. His passion for comedy was rewarded in 2010 when he won the award for 'Best original Joke' on BBC Radio. He co-wrote and starred in television series pilot Clive, and has been a guest speaker several times at the London Comedy Writers Group, based in the heart of London's west end. He spent last summer break working for Rudge Renewables on administration projects.

Joel Emery graduated from Middlesex University with a first, and has since worked on various projects. His short-film Exposures was short-listed on several national film festivals. He collaborated on Clive, co-writing with Oliver Dowling and directing the pilot. Joel currently works for the BBC, as head of graphic design and moving images on such shows as Match of the Day and Football Focus.

Adam Jarrell is an actor/singer who has performed all over the world, ranging from cruise-ships to international tours. His debut feature film Nuryan, in which he played the lead, won the prestigious 'Best Film' at the London Independent film festival. Adam also played one of the lead characters in the award-winning production of Stephen Sondheim's Assassins at the Union Theatre, Waterloo in 2010. He is currently on tour with Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat in which he is receiving rave reviews for his portrayal of 'Pharaoh'.

If people would like to invest, or simply have a query, they can e-mail any time at primleyroad@gmail.com or phone Adam on 07411965861

The O2 in reach for talented local band of brothers, Wise Intentions

BAND of brothers Wise Intentions from Axminster have not only taken the judging panel of the UK's biggest original music competition, Live and Unsigned, by storm, but have also won the Blackstar Exposure Award receiving a Blackstar Guitar Amplifier.

Wise Intentions (Scott, lead vocals, guitar; Grant, vocals, keyboard; and Blake, drums) are excited to have got through to the South West England and Wales Area Finals, having gone through from the Regional Finals held on March 18th at The Coal Exchange in Cardiff.

They play gigs across the South West, playing an exciting range of covers from Green Day, Muse, U2, Pink Floyd, Oasis, Guns 'n' Roses, and more, together with their original songs. They are playing live at The Axminster Inn, on Friday, May 25th from 9.30pm onwards.

The brothers say they "are excited and very grateful to get through to the Area Finals in Reading, and to win this Blackstar Guitar Amp from Live and Unsigned".

Wise Intentions realise they are now just one good performance away from playing at London's O2 in the Grand Final of Live and Unsigned which is part of Live Fest; London's biggest indoor festival. They were voted by judges as one of the best in the Regional Final Showcase in Cardiff. They will be competing against the most talented bands and artists in the country in the South West England and Wales Area Final Showcase on Sunday 27th May in Reading.

More than 10,000 acts entered nationally and the few still left in the competition are in with a chance of making their way to the Grand Final at London's O2, winning the £10,000 main cash prize and the Live and Unsigned festival tour. There'll also be a £10,000 publicity investment in the winners.

The winning act of Live and Unsigned 2012 will embark on a remarkable festival tour this summer spanning 15 top festivals across the UK. That number is hopefully set to expand over the next couple of weeks, and it will also include an additional international festival with a partner in Sweden, Italy or Latvia. The lucky winner of the Peace & Love slot in Sweden will play alongside Rihanna, Bloc Party, Skrillex, Enter Shikari and many more!

This year's competition also offers acts an extra chance of exposure as it is being filmed for broadcasting on Sky TV in an exclusive fly-on-the-wall documentary, Live and Unsigned: Uncut. All the acts in the competition are battling it out for the chance to play at Live Fest at The O2 in London. The Grand Final is incorporated into London's biggest indoor festival on the 14th July.

Wise Intentions also wish to give a big 'thank you' to all of those who came to support them at Cardiff. They hired a coach from Lyme Regis and supporters made banners, t-shirts and lots of appropriate noise at the Showcase. They also said they "can't wait to do it all over again at the South-West England & Wales Area Final on Sunday, May 27th". ■ For Tickets (£9.00), or more information about the coach (additional £11.00), please phone 07749295438 or email wiseintentions@aol.com or visit www.wiseintentions.com

One-man show a hit for Steve

PERFORMING a one-man show takes a special kind of confidence. The long and tortuous road to the top of the entertainment tree is littered with the careers of would-be stars who misjudged their ability to hold an audience spellbound.

To attempt such a show in your own back yard might verge on the foolhardy and there are few local entertainers who would even attempt it.

But Steve Black, comedy writer, award winning songwriter, raconteur and one of life's survivors, loves a challenge.

Blackey has built a loyal following since arriving in Axminster in the 1970s from London with his guitar and a million songs in his head, gigging relentlessly, writing comedy scripts, penning award winning songs and staging rock musicals and micro plays through his unique ietheatre group.

It has not been an easy journey but he has this endearing spirit that says everything turns out right in the end.

I had been threatening for weeks to review one of his plays being regularly staged at the Dolphin in Beer, an intimate venue where his remarkable and prolific writing skills have won many plaudits.

So when I heard he was doing a one-man show I knew I had to make a special effort. When I arrived in Beer Steve, in trademark trilby, was pacing up and down the village street, having a quick fag before the show. Even the most seasoned of performers need to calm their nerves.

THEATRE REVIEW

From the onset it was clear that Steve knew most of those in the audience, such is his following, and there followed 90 minutes of ditties, songs, stories about his unusual life (he lived for a while in Alaska and once worked for James Hunt in Formula 1 racing, one of his great passions in life).

The tone of the evening was set with an amusing poem about the world's worst magician which Steve penned for comedian Richard Digance to deliver at a Royal Variety performance, and we were treated to other comic interludes which included an hilarious account of Steve's efforts to learn to drive. Beware, he's just got himself another provisional licence!

I particularly enjoyed two other renditions – a poem about how the Brits always came out on top when pitched against the Germans, including the names of all the 1966 winning World Cup squad, and a very clever account of how a Reliant Robin, allegedly driven by myself (I knew he would get his own back!) ending up winning a British Grand Prix.

The musical content included a beautiful ballad called "Walk With Me" that will feature in his next big show, "Leonardo" to be staged at Axminster Guildhall in October, and a touching tribute to his grandfather, Jack London, who played the London music halls and who inspired Steve to follow a career in the music industry.

I suspect Jack London is never very far from Steve's thoughts and I'm quite sure that if there is a place where old music hall performers end up, he would have been looking down on his grandson's one-man show and saying "good on yer son".

FOOTBALL LEGEND AND CHAMPION JOCKEY MAKE CATWALK APPEARANCES AT EXETER'S LADIES' NIGHT

FORMER international footballer David James and champion jockey Tony McCoy will be strutting their stuff across the catwalks at Exeter Racecourse's Ladies' Night on May 8th, an evening which looks set to be one of the most glamorous and fun of the year.

The event is being held in aid of the David James Foundation which the Bristol City footballer set up in 2005 and has largely self-financed since. The Foundation works in close partnership with The Samaritan Trust, a local charity which cares for and educates orphans. Through its education programme it teaches self-sustaining agricultural techniques providing sustainable solutions to local problems.

Explaining why Exeter has nominated the DJF, general manager Alice Everitt said: "David has become a good friend at Exeter and when we became aware of the incredible work he has done in Malawi through his Foundation, much of which has been self funded, we felt we wanted to support him, and raise awareness and funds through our ladies' night. It's an incredible night – really good fun and a great opportunity for both our female and male racegoers to dress up, let their hair down and have a lot of fun."

Both James and McCoy, as well as a handful of jockeys, are keen to support the foundation, will help raise awareness of the charity by appearing on the catwalk which has been organised by students from Bicton College with Leonard Coombe Master Saddlers and Country Life.

James said: "It's going to be a really great night and a fantastic opportunity to raise awareness of the work we do in Malawi. We have several fundraising activities and all in all, it's going to be a lot of fun."

The New Heroes will get the evening going with live music.

Visit www.exeter-racecourse.co.uk or call 08445 793005 and quote ladies12.

Americana icon Bill Sheffield comes to Seaton

BLUES/AMERICANA performer Bill Sheffield is touring the UK in May, with a local concert taking place at The Grove in Seaton on Tuesday, May 8th.

The big man from Atlanta, Georgia is accompanied by The Producers' Dave Saunders on acoustic bass. The award winning Producers are one of the UK's top blues/rock bands and pack out venues all around the country (and they recently played at Seaton's The Gateway) so this is a fantastic pairing. Those lucky enough to have seen Bill before know what a great singer/guitarist and powerful performer he is. With his huge voice and stunning slide guitar this man puts his heart and soul into every show. He was guitar legend Roy Buchanan's vocalist, touring with Roy throughout the United States and featuring on Roy's Polydor album In the Beginning. His experience of working for blues greats such as Big Mama Thornton, Fabulous Thunderbirds, John Lee Hooker, Muddy Waters (Godfather to Bill's daughter!), Bonnie Raitt and Stevie Ray Vaughan (it's a little known fact that SRV actually opened for Bill Sheffield once!) and his laid back yet energy laden stage style has made him many friends in Europe where he is always made very welcome.

Combining a finger picking style that rolls over you like a freight train, with his electrifying and dazzling guitar work. There is no denying it, Bill Sheffield is a master of the Blues and a true master of the guitar. He exudes the personality of the songs he sings playing every song from the heart.

Although the foundation for Bill Sheffield's music is the Blues, the live concert contains elements of many other genres including folk, country and gospel.

Honest, gutsy, and passionate, an evening orchestrated by Bill Sheffield promises to be an unforgettable musical experience.

Advance tickets are £8 from The Grove (01297 21077) or the Seaton TIC, or £10 on the door. Doors open at 8pm.

Good Foundations

TO all my passed pupils, (quite a few I think!) I would like to thank you all for the pleasure in being able to teach you all to drive, and I am sure you will agree that my teaching standards were very high, (and still are).

As a matter of interest I often wonder how many of you have gone on to improve your driving skills, I know a few of you have gone on to become top drivers in your given careers, such as Police drivers, one I know of became a Police Driving Instructor, Ambulance drivers, Bus and Heavy goods drivers, and one of my passed pupils now drives a tank for the British Army, a far cry from my little 1.5D Renault Clio!

For those of you that have not been driving long, I wish you all the best. And to keep trying to improve your driving skills, and maybe reduce your insurance premiums by thinking about more advance driving courses. Pass plus is always a good way to start, you can also save fuel cost by improving your Eco driving skills.

PLEASE FEEL FREE TO CONTACT ME, I would love to hear from you (email is best). Thank you all again, best wishes and happy safe motoring!

Smartphone apps creating more distraction for young drivers

Recent survey findings from RoadSafe member ingenie®, the car insurance brand for young drivers, reveal that 58% of 17-25 year old drivers agree that smartphone apps are causing young people to be more distracted at the wheel.

Ingenie (<http://www.ingenie.com>) commissioned the survey of 1,000 young drivers, conducted by One Poll, which has uncovered the extent of how smartphones and social media are distracting 17-25 year olds when behind the wheel.

The latest ingenie survey revealed:

- Over 40% admitted to answering their phones while driving without a hands-free set
- 44% said they had sent a text message, and 62% said they had read a message while they were driving
- 1 in 6 male drivers under 25 has crashed due to mobile phone usage at the wheel
- One third of under 25s who use Facebook on their phone admitted to using it whilst driving
- 18% of under 25s who have Draw Something on their phone have played the game whilst driving – 17% for Angry Birds
- Hands-free kits encourage 53% more young drivers to make longer calls at the wheel (longer than 5 minutes)

The results collected from the survey suggest that the increasing range of apps and functionality available on mobile devices is contributing to young driver distraction – even mobile games, which take a high level of concentration are taking young people's attention away from the roads.

On the growing range of dangerous distractions created by smartphones, ingenie founder and CEO

Richard King said, "We're in the middle of a perfect storm, where the rapid growth of social media and mobile is creating a new breed of in-car distraction. We're increasingly using smartphones to occupy ourselves during down time, but driving is an active pursuit and it really does need our full attention. As well as not texting or making calls, we should all pledge not to tweet, update our status or be tempted by anything else our phone has to offer whilst driving."

King added, "At ingenie we're doing our bit to prevent distraction – we won't send driver feedback messages to your mobile if we know the ignition is on, and when our contact centre makes outbound calls, the first question they'll ask is 'are you driving'?"

ingenie commissioned the survey ahead of its #DontDriveDistracted campaign on Twitter to reduce road crashes related to driver distraction. The campaign launches on Friday 27th April with celebrity supporters Gary Lineker, Omid Djalili and Williams F1 Team driver Bruno Senna – each making a pledge to cut out distracting behaviour behind the wheel. For each person who makes a pledge on Twitter to not drive distracted, ingenie will donate £1 to RoadSafe to be used by RoadSafe to help reduce road deaths and injuries by encouraging innovation for the safe design and use of roads and vehicles.

Gary Lineker, Omid Djalili and Bruno Senna have each recorded their own video pledge, found at <http://www.ingenie.com/distraction>. Drivers across the UK can then either make a similar pledge, or write their own, and contribute to ingenie's donation to RoadSafe.

Polo R Line: Adding more style to the substance

VOLKSWAGEN is adding even more style to its popular supermini, with the launch of the Polo R Line, which builds on the impressive specification of the Polo Match with unique styling touches inside and out.

On the outside, the R Line is distinguished by a unique styling pack. This consists of deeper, sportier R Line front and rear bumpers, a black gloss radiator grille with R Line badging, deeper side sills and 16-inch 'Mallory' alloy wheels. From the B-pillars back, the glass is dark-tinted and 65 per cent light-absorbing, while the standard front foglights also include a static cornering function.

Step past the brushed aluminium scuff plates with R Line logos, and inside there are sports seats with 'Kyalam' cloth upholstery and an R Line logo on the headrests, along with a leather-trimmed three-spoke steering wheel with R Line logo and aluminium-capped pedals, while the roof lining is finished in black cloth. Standard equipment is comprehensive, including an RCD 310 radio/CD player with six speakers and multi-device interface, for plugging in an iPod or other compatible device. 'Climatic' semi-automatic air conditioning, a multifunction trip computer, electric windows (including in the rear on five-door models), height-adjustable front seats, a split-folding rear-seat backrest, electrically operated and heated door mirrors, illuminated vanity mirrors, front and rear reading lights, a tyre pressure monitor and, of course, remote central locking.

The R Line is available with just one engine, the existing 1.2-litre 105 PS TSI petrol unit, with a six-speed manual gearbox. This engine propels the Polo R Line from zero to 62 mph in 9.7 seconds, and on to a top speed of 118 mph. Fuel consumption is 53.3 mpg on the combined cycle, and CO<sub>2</sub> emissions are 124 g/km.

Prices start at £15,195 on the road for the three-door model, rising to £15,815 for the five-door. The Polo R Line is available to order at Volkswagen Retailers now, with first deliveries expected in July.

TomTom launches the GO LIVE Camper & Caravan

TOMTOM has launched the GO LIVE Camper & Caravan. This specialist navigation device provides tailored routes by vehicle type and has pre-installed Points of Interest that make it easy for drivers to find camper and caravan sites and services.

The TomTom GO LIVE Camper & Caravan includes new navigation software which adjusts routes and arrival times to match a vehicle's size, weight and maximum speed. Drivers can set separate profiles for their camper, caravan, car, van and trailer, and use the device whatever vehicle they are driving.

"Many customers have been in touch requesting navigation designed specifically for their camper or caravan," says Marielke Nieuwerth-van den Akker, TomTom Product Manager. "The launch of the GO LIVE Camper & Caravan puts an end to unnecessary detours and unwanted surprises. Not only does it calculate the very best routes, it is also a great source of relevant information on the journey."

Custom Points of Interest are stored on the device to help drivers locate places such as camping areas, chemical toilet facilities and camper service spots. Plus, a year of LIVE Services is included for free, providing access to weather forecasts, real-time traffic information with HD Traffic, and Google Local Search.

The TomTom GO LIVE Camper & Caravan comes with maps of 45 countries in Europe and is priced £349.99.

Features of the TomTom GO LIVE Camper & Caravan include:

A specialist map of Europe for campers and caravans: adjusts routes and arrival times for campers, caravans, recreational vans, trailers and cars, taking into account vehicle size and speed restrictions.

Custom Points of Interest for campers and caravans: locates over 20,000 Points of Interest such as camping areas, chemical toilet facilities and camper service spots.

Camper / Caravan / Passenger Car Options: adjust routes to match the vehicle. Dual Mounting System: enables the device to be mounted on either windscreen or dashboard.

1 year FREE LIVE Services: provides access to a range of services including TomTom Weather, TomTom HD Traffic, Local Search with Google™, Search & Go with TripAdvisor and Expedia, and destination sharing with Twitter™.

Voice command and control: drivers can navigate without taking their hands off the wheel, planning their route using only the sound of their voice.

Hands-free calling: allows drivers to make and answer phone calls safely while driving.

Advanced Lane Guidance: gives extra clarity at difficult junctions.

IQ Routes: uses real travel information shared by millions of drivers to get the best routes and arrival times at every time of day.

Bosch driver drowsiness detection

Preventing microsleep

Now also features in the Volkswagen Passat Alltrack

- Fatigue is one of the main causes of serious accidents
- Characteristic steering movements indicate fatigue
- Driver drowsiness detection now a standard feature in Volkswagen's Passat Alltrack

FATIGUE and microsleep at the wheel are often the cause of serious accidents. However, the initial signs of fatigue can be detected before a critical situation arises. Bosch Driver Drowsiness Detection can do this by monitoring steering movements and advising drivers to take a break in time. The required information is provided either by the car's electric power steering system, or by the steering angle sensor, which is part of the car's ESP® anti-skid system. The feature can therefore be installed cost-effectively and helps further increase road safety. Bosch Driver Drowsiness Detection can be used in passenger cars and light commercial vehicles, and can also be integrated into various control units in vehicles. It was first introduced as a standard feature in 2010, in the new Volkswagen Passat. The latest model with the function is the new Passat Alltrack.

The influence of fatigue on accidents has been demonstrated in a number of studies. In 2010, the American Automobile Association (AAA) published an analysis based on the accident data collected by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) in the United States. The assessment showed that overtired drivers were at the wheel in 17 percent of all fatal accidents in the US. Fading concentration and fatigue compromise the driver's steering behavior and response time. Fine motor skills deteriorate, and steering behavior becomes less precise. The driver corrects small steering mistakes more often. The new driver drowsiness detection function is based on an algorithm which begins recording the driver's steering behavior the moment the trip begins. It then recognizes changes over the course of long trips, and thus also the driver's level of fatigue. Typical signs of waning concentration are phases during which the driver is barely steering, combined with slight, yet quick and abrupt steering movements to keep the car on track. Based on the frequency of these movements and other parameters, among them

Any spare change, sir?

NEW research released today shows that motorists are ill-prepared for a puncture, with an astonishing 1.3 million (4%) drivers admitting they don't even know whether they have a spare wheel or not.

The study, carried out for Kwik Fit, the UK's largest automotive repair company, found that a million (3%) motorists confess to not having any provision whatsoever for a flat tyre. With an estimated 8.8 million (26%) drivers suffering a puncture each year, this could lead to a quarter of a million cars being stranded at the roadside in the next 12 months.

And it's not just the rubber that's missing in some cars – 10% (2.9 million) of drivers who do carry a spare say they don't have the necessary tools to their car to change it over should a tire blow. 36% (11.6 million) have the tools but admit they don't know how to use them when it comes to swapping over a wheel. 6% (1.8 million) are short on both fronts and have neither the equipment nor knowledge to get a new wheel on.

There also seems to be confusion as a result of car manufacturers no longer offering full size spares as standard on some vehicles. One in ten motorists (3.3 million) who have a spare don't know whether it's a full-size spare or a low-speed space-saver, which could prove hazardous if a blowout happens on a long motorway journey.

Some manufacturers offer neither a full size spare or a space saver, instead providing drivers with a puncture repair kit. Over 4 million drivers (11%) have a puncture repair kit but the vast majority of them (3 million) don't rely on the kit alone and also carry a spare, ensuring they are prepared for a double puncture.

Roger Griggs, communications director at Kwik Fit, said: "The recent trend amongst car manufacturers to offer space-saver spares or puncture repair kits instead of full-size spare tyres could be the cause of this confusion amongst motorists. It's worrying how many drivers don't know what provision they have for a puncture, but it's even more of a concern to see how many have absolutely nothing in their car to deal with a deflated tyre."

"For those who have recently bought a second hand car it's also important that they assess the condition of the spare – there could be damage that isn't obvious at a glance, and if it hasn't been checked in a while it's likely to be underinflated."

"There are clearly gaps in knowledge around how to change a tyre, and indeed many cars are missing tools, which means even if a spare is carried some motorists will struggle to swap it over. Changing a wheel is a skill that all drivers should have, and if anyone isn't confident enough to do so they can visit their local Kwik Fit centre and the team will happily walk them through it."

Kwik Fit is currently offering 25% off the price of all tyres in its centres, so there's never been a better time for drivers to get their tyres checked or changed, and of course, not forgetting the spare.

Bright future for Seaton CC

OVER the Easter holidays, seven colts from Seaton Cricket Club attended a Young Leaders Course at Ottery St Mary cricket club.

The day long course included aspects of umpiring, scoring, groundskeeping and coaching. Several of the boys have since begun helping run training sessions for the younger age groups at the club.

Seaton CC were able to help fund the boys attendance on the course due to support from main sponsor Chris Hammatt. Chairman Andrew Carter said, "Chris' sponsorship is enabling us to invest in, amongst other things, our colts to help develop the club for the future.

"This investment is beginning to bear fruit as last weekend 14-year-old Reid Mawdsley scored his first hundred an unbeaten 109 playing for the East Devon U15 XI."

"Anyone interested in playing youth cricket is welcome to come along to Seaton colts training nights from 4.30-6pm." The U11s and U13s train on Thursdays, with U15s and the seniors on Wednesdays. For further information contact Stephen@gingercoaching.com

Grizzly goes from strength to strength

THERE were great celebrations at Beer Club on Friday evening when the Axe Valley Runners were delighted to hand out a record sum of over £42,000 to 52 various groups who helped with this year's Grizzly run as marshals, drink station helpers and various other jobs, plus three main donations to chosen charities.

On top of this AVR had previously paid £3,300 for a substantial upgrade to the footpath linking the Fountain Head at Branscombe to the main coastal path as part of the Grizzly strategy of bringing benefit to the local community.

The Seaton and District Hospital League of Friends were given the largest donation of £10,000 towards the Seaton Home Health Care Service that enables people to die peacefully in their own homes instead of in an anonymous hospital ward. The service covers a large area in East Devon.

The Devon Air Ambulance Trust had £6,184 and the Dorset and Somerset Air Ambulance received £3,000.

Add this years total to all that AVR had previously given away as a result of the Grizzly run and it brings the overall total to over £250,000. A cracking achievement for a small running club.

None of the Grizzly's would be possible without the hard work of a dedicated band of volunteers who form the committee.

For the last few years this has been lead by AVR chairman Garry Perratt who puts in an unbelievable amount of work. Many thanks to all past and present members who have contributed to the great Grizzly success story.

◆ The Haldon Heartbeat in its second year of running attracted two AVR members.

Although a bit wet and windy, running through beautiful woods and along scenic trails no one seemed to mind a bit of precipitation.

First AVR in was Eleanor Wood, 4th Lady and first V55 in 1:03:50. Close on her heels was Graham Newton, who had caught her at five miles but after a natter, dropped off the pace for a bit. Graham was timed in one second behind Eleanor who was pleased she had kept to her speed training schedule as there was a "last in buys the coffee" riding on it.

◆ Sunday morning was definitely destined to be a duvet day, as the weather was atrocious.

However, 31 hardy walkers and runners turned up for the Woody's Eight to self navigate a pretty route around Shute.

There were many soggy socks and T-shirts strewn around the hall at the end, but plenty of happy smiling faces munching on cakes and bacon butties.

The event raised a massive £ 570 which is to be shared between Lam Action, Elf and Help for Heroes. Many thanks to our participants- what a hardy bunch- the cake makers, the bacon fryer and behind the scene crew and supporters.

There was an optional bath (old bucket) with soap on a rope (courtesy of John Pearce) and a grungy dog towel to use at the end- They do it with style in Umberore.

AXE CLIFF with Janet Dack SENIORS

LAST Tuesday the Seniors played their third consecutive home inter-club match of the season, this time against Honiton where it was pleasing to notch up a 5-1 win after the earlier draw and loss.

Successful pairings for Axe Cliff were Rob Grove & Gerry Turner, John White & Terry Jessup, Geoff Hubbard & Nick Povey, Hugh Willis & Jack Bannister and Tony Strong & Gilbert Cox.

The April Medal on Friday attracted a field of 37 Seniors. Considering the showery conditions, including the spasmodic hail shower, the scores were remarkably good with the winning score of 67 nett From Clive Davie (19) - an excellent return.

Three players had nett 70s and, on countback, Dave Weston (21) claimed second place with third going to Peter Rollason (22).

Jack Bannister (24) was the unlucky player to miss out on the prizes. There were two 2s, from Derek Williamson and Peter Motson.

Main Club

THE main club competed for the Handicap Cup last Sunday.

The winner was Andy Gabb with a nett 66 reducing his handicap to 16 and beating Alex Gabb who also reduced his handicap to 13 with a nett 68.

There were three 2s, from Andrew Hellier at the 7th, Andy Trivett at the 11th and Alex Gabb at the 14th.

Ladies

THE Ladies were unlucky again with the weather as several greens on the course were flooded and the EWGA Medal had to be postponed.

LYME REGIS with Steve Percival

IN a week when the weather threatened to seriously disrupt the planned programme it was satisfying that only one day was lost due to wind and rain WRITES STEVE PERCIVAL.

Ladies section

THE first event of the week was the MacMillan Spoon in aid of cancer relief.

Despite cold, windy and showery conditions there were 35 entries and £101.50 was raised for the cancer charity.

The winner, who received a commemorative spoon from MacMillan, was Susan Moore with 35 points. In second place, with 34, was Chris Wakeling and Hanna Jacobson close behind with 33.

Juniors

WITH the wet and windy conditions continuing, 12 members of the Junior section took to the course to compete in a Stableford event.

In first place with an outstanding 41 points was George Yorke. In second place with an equally impressive 39 was Lewis Cottam.

In third place, continuing his return to form was David Lyon with 38.

April Stableford

A VERY welcome improvement in the weather which was accompanied by some outstanding scores in the April Stableford. Playing off scratch with a 4 under gross, was Roger Seed with 40 points.

However Roger was pipped at the post by Merv Knight (13) who achieved 41 points. In third place was Willy Whitelaw (14) with 40. In Division Two Dilly Taylor (16) took the honours, on countback, with 38 over Steve Thirlwell (23) followed by Jon Cullimore (16) with 35.

ON THE SPOT...

VIEW FROM Sport puts Chardstock Cricket club's JUSTIN MARRINER UNDER THE SPOTLIGHT

Q How long have you been involved in local cricket scene? Who have you played for?

A I came down from Petersfield in Hampshire in 1999 and Fred Eames asked me to start playing cricket for Chardstock in 2000. I have played mainly for Chardstock for most of the time but have had the odd game for Broadway, Kilmington, All Saints and Buckland.

Q Who are the best three players you've played alongside so far, and why?

A The best players that I have played with since I have been down here are Richard Pyman - an ex-England B player, Robbie Hutchings who was the Ilminster captain last year, and James Hayden and Nathan Copp who are my mates and have played with me at the club for quite a while?

Q What's the best away ground you've played at?

A Taunton St Andrews where the Somerset 2nd XI play. It's nearly as good as our home ground!

Q Do any games stick in your memory?

A The game that I remember most was about two years ago at Ilton in the wednesday night league - we beat them by 2 runs, it went down to the last ball.

Q How would you improve things at Chardstock CC?

A I would not want to change much as there are such beautiful views from there but perhaps it would be nice to loose the slope.

Q Name some young players we should look out for in the future.

A Jack Larcombe and the Pyman boys - James, Ed and Jack.

rugby review of the season Exciting times for Honiton

At this time of the year I generally spend some time explaining just why things that I have hinted might just come to pass in the future, on the local rugby scene, have in fact, not done so.

SIDMOUTH, as a club, will not look back on the past season with too much affection. They had to deal with several problems that emanated from outside the field of play.

Having decided to dispense with the services of their coach in mid-season, they then had to cope with the tragic and untimely death of Director of Rugby, Tug Wilson, a tragedy indeed.

They competed in the South West League (West) Division, a very competitive one, as Chard will most surely find out next season.

They ended the season very much in the bottom half of the table, but not too much should be read into that fact for, had they won just one more game, they would have occupied a place in the top half, such is the closeness of the contest.

In fact they made a pretty useful start to their league campaign, winning their first three games before going down to their bogey side, Paignton, a result that they were to reverse at the Blackmore subsequently.

They then proceeded to go through a rather inconsistent patch, notching several useful wins over such sides as Camborne and Cullompton, but suffering a heavy defeat at eventual champions, Brixham.

The year 2012 started well for them and they would have taken great satisfaction from their 23-16 win over Paignton.

Thereafter they went through a phase of losing close games, before righting the ship to an extent with a 16-16 draw at Thornbury at the end of February. They did not end the season at all well results-wise and, after beating the soon to be relegated Berry Hill in early March, their next win did not come until the final game of the season.

A gentle slide down the table was the result and, although there was never the remotest chance of relegation, they ended the season in fifth bottom place.

The Sidmouth second side did not enjoy the best of seasons. It struggled to come to terms with life in the top section of the Devon Merit Table, winning just five games of its twenty two games played and occupying a relegation place at the season's end.

Sidmouth third too did not have much joy. They ended the season second from the bottom of the Devon Merit Table Division Three (North East), having won just three time in 13 outings.

The close season is now upon us, and I will guess that the Sidmouth club will be utilising it to take stock and regroup. There is no doubt that they have encountered problems over recent months.

They have coped with them however and should look forward with confidence. They have the playing strength to continue playing in South West Division (West) in September next.

It has obviously enjoyed a good playing season, with only two clubs doing the double over it.

It started its campaign well indeed, winning its first three games, although unknowingly at that time it had beaten the three sides that would fill relegation places at the season's end.

Having received a set back when it lost at Crediton at the end of September, it went on the record six wins on the trot, before surprisingly being bested by Plymouth Barbarians, by the emerging Tavistock side and by Teignmouth in the run up to the Christmas break. It regrouped however and put a run of wins together during the early part of 2012 that really confirmed its promotion challenge, with most of its rivals falling away for one reason or another.

The exception was a Tavistock side that, after losing its first five matches, had altered course, thanks in no small part to its links with a senior academy, and was carrying all before it. It duly beat Honiton on the last Saturday in March on its way to claiming the title and, although the Alhallows outfit lost to Teignmouth the following week, it gathered in enough league points on the way to ensure it finished the season in the runners-up spot.

I think that this Honiton squad is, for the most part, an emerging one and that fact might just explain their occasion inconsistencies in the season that is just past.

They have a low average age, a mobile pack and a fast and penetrative back division. Their success had probably been helped by the fact that the season has been one of the driest on record, for they play an attractive open brand of rugby, with player-coach Channing pulling the strings at outside half.

With its promotion, the side will now be playing at the highest level it has ever done and that will be a challenge. There is still work to be done of course but, if the existing squad of players remains intact, the season 2012/2013 could be a both an interesting and exciting one.

The Honiton second side enjoyed a pretty useful season under the benign eye of captain Tom Churchward. They took part in level two of the Devon Merit Table and faced, for some part, the second sides of the clubs whom their first team were taking on.

Their main function was to bring the young pups through and this they did to

The youngsters were accompanied by first teamer Mickey Walsh who is also the club's Youth Development Officer.

The party enjoyed a guided tour of the 'Theatre of Dreams' as well as trips to Lytham St Annes and Blackpool during the three day stay.

The team are due to commence training for the new season in early August.
